COUNCIL RECORD OF REPUBLICANS MERITS SUPPORT

All Improvements Have Been Made or Started Under Republicans.

Business Men Compose the Ticket This Year.

TO BACK UP MAYOR J. P. SMITH

From the time, when lower Broadway was paved under the long administration, the whole city including Middletown, being taxed to pay for it, to the present, a review of the municipal history shows that most improvements, excepting the one just mentioned, which was made at a gross injustice to property owners in other parts of the city, have been made by Republican general councils.

The Fire Department.
The present adequate fire department was inaugurated by the Republican administration of affairs. One small station, depending upon runners to call out the volunteers, was the extent of the fire protection at the beginning, with rotten hose and poor equipment.

In 1886 the first Republican general council found the fire department to consist of one two-wheeled cart, a four-wheeled horse reel, an old hook and ladder wagon pulled by one horse each, four men on regular at one station, and depending on bystanders to assist them in case of fire. That council put on regular men, bought new horses, new apparatus, new hose, and built the station at Fourth and Elizabeth streets and equipped it.

Toll Gates.
That general council found a barrier in the way of toll gates on gravel roads, leading into the city, preventing business with neighboring towns and keeping down county patronage. They took steps to make all the gravel roads free.

They found the alley stinking with filth. The death rate was high, because of the filthy condition of gutters and alleys. Before their term expired they had built and put in sewer district, No. 1.

The tax rate had been $1.50 before that. They reduced it to $1.20 the first year and it only averaged $1.40 while these improvements were being made. Out of this the schools got 50 cents on the $100, having previously received only 35 cents.

Water Mains.
The law prevented the extension of water mains, leaving dead ends. People were clamoring for water supply, and under this council and against the veto of the Democratic mayor the 13 miles of sewer in 1894 were increased until today we have 38 miles; fire protection was augmented by the addition of plugs, and people who had to use well water and

HENRY P. DAVIS WAS NAME OF DEAD PRISONER.

Henry P. Davis, the convict who fell from a scaffold at the government penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga., last week, and was killed, was arrested in Paducah in 1907 by the police on the charge of counterfeiting. Davis with a pal made the spurious coin in the engine room of the Palmer House. Davis was sent up for a term. His time would have been out soon. Davis is said to have made a good prisoner.

MOTOR BOATS WILL BE ASSESSED HEREAFTER

Motor boat owners at Paducah who have escaped taxation will be required to list their property to City Assessor J. W. Orr hereafter. No municipal revenue has been received from this source in the past, but City Solicitor James P. Campbell, Jr., says owners of motor boats, launches, etc., are required by law to list their property for assessment. Chief Henry Singery, of the police department, has given directions to Patrolmen England and Stewart to make a canvass of the boats in the local harbor and report their names. There are about 100 motor boats here, but City Assessor Orr is of the opinion that not much revenue will be derived, as a majority of the craft are of no high value. However, the assessment will make a big change in the valuation of personal property.

Boy Attempts to Frighten Possum Hunters and Is Killed by One, Who Mistakes Him For Wild Animal Rudolph Smith, of Calloway County, Shot By Carl Dowdy Saturday Night—A Prominent Citizen is Dead.

Murray, Ky., Nov. 7. (Special.)—As the result of his attempt to frighten a party of possum hunters, Rudolph Smith, 20 years old, died at Murray Sunday morning from gunshot wounds.

Carl Dowdy and a boy of the name of Waters went to the farm of John Smith, three miles south of Murray, Saturday evening about 7 o'clock to hunt possums. They wanted Rudolph Smith to accompany them, and Rudolph determined to give them a scare.

He went into a briar patch about 100 yards from his house, after sending word to the boys that he would join them near there, and when they approached he made sounds like the scream of a wild cat. The Waters boy ran; but Dowdy, who is a dead shot, stood his ground, and sent the dogs into the thicket.

They came out with their hair bristling, and Dowdy held up his lantern by the gleam of which, he said afterwards, he caught the glint of Smith's eyes. He let go with both barrels, and Smith's screams of agony indicated that his aim was deadly.

Dowdy recognized the human voice and ran to Smith's aid. Smith had been in a crouching position and the balls, ranging downward, had perforated his intestines time and time again. Yet he was able to walk home with the assistance of Dowdy. He was hurried to Murray and placed in the hospital, where he was operated on, but he died Sunday morning.

Former Postmaster Dies.
Murray, Ky., Nov. 7. (Special.)—W. T. Scott, postmaster under President Grant at Murray, died Sunday of paralysis after being confined to his home for eight years. He was 75 years old, and one of the most prominent men in the Purchase.

Shots in Elkhersville.

Two mysterious shots were heard in Elkhersville about 8 o'clock last night, but the police did not learn the names of any participants to any trouble. The shots are said to have been fired in the vicinity of Ninth and Tennessee streets.

They are the Rev. D. C. Wright, pastor of the Grace Episcopal church; the Rev. G. H. Smalley, of the Second Baptist church; and the Rev. G. W. Hanks, pastor of the Fountain Avenue church. Dr. Wright goes to Louisville; Dr. Hanks to Parkersburg, W.

His condition was not considered serious until several days ago. The funeral and burial took place yesterday.

After good detective work Patrolman George finally rounded them up and they were taken to police headquarters. Both were fined $5 for lighting.

MIXED FORECAST OF ELECTION FOR SEVERAL STATES

Confuse Situation With Regard to Make-Up Of Next Congress.

New York Results are Doubtful, Hinging on Influences.

IN NEBRASKA AND TENNESSEE

Seldom is an election so mystifying as the one tomorrow, or the forecasts so much at variance. Principal interest over the nation centers in the congressional races, in which it is conceded the Democrats will make great gains, though there are few who will predict a landslide. Local conditions everywhere, apparently, will determine the result of races. The Chicago Tribune expresses the belief that the Democrats will come out of the fight with a majority of 33 in the lower house. The Success magazine's poll shows: Democrats 188, Republicans 187, doubtful 16. The Tribune's forecast disagrees with the general opinion in the congressional races, just as it does in the New York contest, where opinions generally concede a Democratic victory for the head of the ticket; while the Tribune thinks the result is undecided. The Tribune's Washington correspondent leans to free trade and Roosevelt, and his wishes apparently prompt his thought.

Willis J. Abbott thinks Democratic gains outside Missouri will be made east of Ohio, and the Tribune's correspondent agrees with him that the Democrats have not everywhere taken advantage of their opportunity by putting up strong men. They both overlook one important factor—the farmer this year is a standpat.

The Farmer a Factor.

The high cost of living is not a potent argument with him; because the high cost of living has principally to do with articles of diet, and the higher they are the more the farmer gets for them. Articles of furniture, wearing apparel and rents have gone down somewhat in price in the last two years, while corn and wheat and oats and hay and butter and eggs and livestock and tobacco have advanced. That the farmer feels this way is evidenced by several calls at the Evening Sun office during the last week from Democratic farmers, who inquired the result of the congressional elections, and when informed that the result might give the congress to their own party, they expressed concern. They don't want any tariff tinkering.

This sentiment has given hope to the Republicans in the Third and Seventh districts of Kentucky, where other conditions militate to their advantage, and it is admitted the satisfaction of the farmers, or rather their fear of disturbing conditions, will make the elections close, though the chances favor the Democratic candidates.

In Ohio the Republican candidate for governor frankly bases his hopes of election on the rural vote, and the stumping tours of Roosevelt and the cabinet officers were made last week for the purpose of arousing interest among Republican voters and getting them to the polls to save the congressional ticket. The result has slightly modified Harman's chances, and may have brought some doubtful Republican districts back into line. In the west and northwest, where the Republican insurgents have captured their party organization, there seems to be no chance of Democratic victory; but in some Illinois districts, Republican districts are wavering.

In New York.

In New York the possibility of the Republicans overcoming the big

In an interview this afternoon he declared himself opposed to Roosevelt's new nationalism. Madrid, Nov. 7.—Order was maintained at Barcelona, Tarragona and other striking centers in Catalonia.

Home Office Grants Reprieve To Dr. Crippen, While Evidence in His Murder Trial Is Being Reviewed Prisoner Still Hopes For Something to Save Him From Gallows—Philadelphia Man Says Belle Elmore Lives.

London, Nov. 7.—Dr. H. H. Crippen, who murdered his wife, Belle Elmore, will not hang tomorrow. His execution was postponed today, for two weeks by the Home Office. No definite date now is set for the hanging. The postponement indicates that Home Secretary Winston Churchill, at least, will give the case a hearing, before allowing Crippen to be sent to the gallows. It was semi-officially announced this afternoon that Crippen will be hanged November 23. Scotland Yard refused to connect the postponement with a report from Philadelphia that Belle Elmore is alive. The authorities disclaimed any knowledge of a report that Dr. Crippen had offered $50,000 for Crippen's wife alive.

"I believe something yet will intervene to prove my innocence," Crippen said.

Says Belle Elmore Is Alive.

Philadelphia, Nov. 7.—Belle Elmore Crippen, for whose murder Dr. Harvey Hawley Crippen is to be hanged Tuesday in London, is declared to be alive in this country, by Francis Tracy Tobin, lawyer, according to interview which the Philadelphia Press publishes tomorrow.

Tobin declares he has "received letters from those who have seen her," and says he knows that she is living and hiding in this country, not far from Chicago. He states that "she was first seen in San Francisco at the time Crippen was first sought by the British police, charged with her murder." The statement continues: "If anything is going to be done we should make haste. There is very little time to start now. We want to get the secretary of state at Washington to cable the American ambassador in London and set the matter before him, so that Crippen's sentence can be commuted pending our investigation."

BAWDY HOUSE KEEPERS ENRICH THE TREASURY

The second step in the prosecution of bawdy house mistresses was taken today when Judge Cross fined two in police court. Ruth Burrows, of Eighth and Hubbard streets, was fined $25 on motion of the prosecuting attorney, Mary Hammond, whose house in the "Hound Top" near Sixth and Flournoy streets, was raided Saturday night by Patrolmen Garrett and Mitchell and Sergeant Lige Cross, was fined $25. The woman with two others and two men were taken to police headquarters and fined $20 each in police court this morning for immorality. The Hammond woman's fine was entered on motion of the prosecuting attorney.

ROYAL HORSES ALMOST PERISHED IN FLAMES.

New York, Nov. 7.—Four horses owned by Queen Wilhelmina, of Holland, and animals belonging to the French army, besides a large number of other thoroughbreds which were to compete in the coming horse show had narrow escapes early this morning when Durland's riding academy was damaged by fire to the extent of $100,000. Nine horses were burned.

FOREIGN HELP IN HONDURAS ASKED

AMERICAN AND BRITISH MARINES MAY TAKE A HAND.

San Salvador, Nov. 7.—American and British authorities at Amapala, Honduras, are conferring today over President Bailla's appeal that foreign gunboats there take Villeda's army prisoner. The government alone is unable to check a rebellion. It is assumed here that American and British marines will be landed and dispatched after the rebel general.

QUARREL ABOUT CARRYING LINE, AND THEN SHOOT

Henry Cherry, Roustabout Lies, Probably Dying, at Riverside Hospital.

Alleged Assailant Has Made His Escape.

SHOOTING ON STEAMER LOWRY.

As a result of a shooting affray that took place on the steamer John L. Lowry about 4 o'clock this morning, Henry Cherry, 35 years old, a negro roustabout, lies at Riverside hospital mortally wounded with a pistol ball in his left lung just beneath his heart. Leonard Wilson, alias Brooks, colored, the alleged assailant, is a fugitive and is being sought by the police after a chase in the south yards of the Illinois Central railroad by Patrolman C. D. Gilliam half an hour after the shooting.

Who should carry a line to the wharfbort from the boat is said to have been the cause of a quarrel between the two roustabouts, leading to a fight later on the Luller deck of the Lowry.

Witnesses say Cherry drew a knife on Wilson, who pulled his gun and fired.

Cherry staggered to the wharfbort and to the office in the northwest corner, where William E. Rosa, steward of the packet J. T. Reeder, was sitting.

"Call a doctor, quick," Cherry gasped, "I'm shot."

Cherry was stretched out on the floor and the police patrol took him to Riverside hospital. The ball entered a fraction of an inch below the heart and lodged in the left lung. Dr. J. T. Redick pronounced his condition dangerous, with slim chances to get well.

Wilson, after firing the shot, turned and ran from the boat and on to the wharfbort, from which he disappeared over the levee. He wore a dark checked coat, a heavy flannel shirt of light color and tan shoes. In the meantime the police were called and obtained his description. About 4:30 o'clock when Mr. J. N. Moore, an employee of the Illinois Central shops, was on his way to work, he was stopped at Sixteenth and Jones street by a negro, answering this description. He asked how soon he could catch a freight train for Evansville. Mr. Moore was ignorant of the shooting and directed him to a freight preparing to pull out of the south yards and bound for Evansville. A few minutes afterward Patrolman C. D. Gilliam met Moore, who told him about the negro. Mr. Gilliam, having been given his description, went in pursuit and saw Wilson jump from between the string of cars. He cried out for him to halt, but Wilson kept going. Patrolman Gilliam pulled his revolver and fired, and Wilson disappeared between the cars. A thorough search by the train crew failed to find him, although it is thought he concealed himself in a car.

Wilson is 25 years old, weighs 150 pounds and is about 5 feet 9 inches in height. His home is in Evansville and he has been with the crew only a short time.

Mate Tom January, of the Lowry, was on the wharfbort at the time of the shooting. Both Wilson and Harry Schraher, colored, were missing from the crew.

DAN GALVIN RESENTS ANONYMOUS CHARGES

Dan Galvin, who formerly conducted a saloon at Fifth and Norton streets, was indignant when he learned of the anonymous communication sent to the mayor, in which it was stated that women were admitted to the saloon. He said he believes the communication was sent, not by neighbors, who might protest against another license being granted for the place, but by some compeller, who doesn't want a saloon opened there. He said the charge that women resorted to his place is false in every particular.

TRAFFIC BLOCKED OVER ISLAND CREEK

TEMPORARY REPAIRS BEING MADE TO FOURTH STREET STRUCTURE.

Traffic is blocked off the Fourth street bridge over Island creek while temporary repairs are being made to the bridge. At the meeting of the general council tonight the question of steps for a new bridge probably will be taken up. Saturday afternoon Mayor Smith had a called meeting of the general council and City Engineer Washington was instructed to make temporary repairs to the bridge. Temporary piling is being placed under the bridge, as it is feared that another rain may cause the piers to slip further and the entire bridge collapse.

ERBSTEIN SUES CHICAGO TRIBUNE

HE ALSO MAKES CARTOONIST MURDERER PARTY DEFENDANT TO ACTION.

Chicago, Nov. 7.—Charles Erbstein an attorney today instituted suit for $50,000 against the Chicago Tribune, James Nealey, the publisher, and John P. McCutcheon, its cartoonist, alleged libelous references to his accusation against State's Attorney Wayman. Erbstein threatens to bring libel suits against the defendants from every Illinois county in which the Tribune is circulated and unless the attacks are discontinued.

CRICE SUED FOR FIVE THOUSAND

BY-STANDER SHOT BY HIM WHEN HE FIRED AT VAUGHN, SUES.

The second damage suit was filed today in circuit court as a result of the shooting episode on Broadway October 27, when Joe P. Ashoff by his guard, Kate Ashoff, fired suit against John L. Crice, of Wickliffe, for $5,000. When Crice shot at Peter Vaughan, who found Crice with his wife, one of the bullets struck the Ashoff girl in the knee. He sued to recover for his medical bill and attention and for the mental suffering. In addition to the three charges of malicious shooting which have been referred to the grand jury, Crice now has two damage suits in the courts, as Mary Wiley, colored, who was struck on the head with a bullet, filed suit for $2,100.

SENATOR BRADLEY IS NOW OUT OF ALL DANGER

Bowling Green, Ky., Nov. 7. (Special.)—Senator Bradley is much improved and out of danger. He will leave for Louisville tomorrow. Senator William O. Bradley is worn out as the result of his strenuous campaign in the Third district. He took to his bed immediately after his address Saturday night, and appeared in considerable distress, although he declared it was nothing more than weariness as the result of his hard speech-making trip.

News of Theatres

AT THE KENTUCKY.

Wednesday, Nov. 6.—"The Casino Girls in 'Smiling Island.'" Week of Nov. 14.—Imperial Stock company in repertoire. Wednesday, Nov. 14.—"The Climax."

The Casino Girls.

The "Casino Girls" company in "Smiling Island," a musical "operetta," with Mr. Tom McRae and Miss Gene Pollard, prima donna contralto, and a company of prominent players, including a fine singing and dancing chorus, will be seen at The Kentucky on Wednesday.

"The Spendthrift."

John Corbin, writing of the season's productions in this week's Saturday Evening Post says of "The Spendthrift."

From the adroit naturalness and studious detachment of Smith (John Drew's play), it is a far cry to The Spendthrift; yet, in essence, the plays are the same. No better illustration could had of the difference between our dramatic art and that of England. Mr. Porter Emerson Brown—who also wrote "A Fool There Was," for Robert Hilliard—has no reticence about his moral purpose: he delights in crude colors and glaring contrasts, and his audience's delight with him.

The wife in his play is an obvious monster of feminine vanity, frivolity, and indeed mendacity; and to be a monster in such things means that one has also a touch of the tubercle. It is a pity that the play is so full of shrewd common-sense as of high intelligence, once remarked that the fool girl is no fit subject for the drama. Certainly one may well feel shame in laughing at the families of this fool girl in the scenes in which they are presented as satirically amusing.

The husband of the spendthrift, though alleged to be a successful man of affairs, is almost equally bereft of common sense. He is passing through a business crisis in which to save himself from utter ruin, he requires every available dollar. Yet, in the furtherance of the plot of the play, he conceals the fact from his recklessly extravagant wife, and allows her to buy automobiles and such like. Surely the noted gallantry of American husbands has never gone further than this. The common-sense of the dramatic personae entire is concentrated in the most amusing Aunt Gretchen. Her nostrum for the ills of the household is babies.

In the last act the wife has disappeared from her world and supports herself in a Harlem garret as a nursery governess. Thus she learns the blessing of offspring and, in the end, returns to her husband with the benediction of Aunt Gretchen. "Go to," said Benedick. "The world must be peopled."

One may doubt whether the life of a nursery governess is the one best calculated to inspire maternal longings in the frivolous, and one deeply questions whether it is a valuable service to propagate such people as this husband and wife. But there you are.

This view of the case is perhaps somewhat captious. Certainly Mr. Brown's previous play, which met an even less cordial reception from his critics, has proved exceptionally popular, and The Spendthrift bids fair to be equally successful. The reason is not far to seek. It treats a new and vital theme with obvious sincerity and crude power. In a phrase which the theater has borrowed from the prize ring, it has the punch.

The Nation's Delinquent.

A Washington special says: "Kindly is the light that is turned upon a prospective White House debutante, Miss Helen Taft, who, since it is assured that she will take her place in the great world this winter, has become a person of consequence to all those to whom society is of paramount importance. Her likes and dislikes, the amusements she favors and the friends she prefers are all anxiously considered by a large number of persons, chief of whom are the mothers of other debutantes. Miss Taft, far from being a stranger to Washington, has already been a frequent guest at the White House circle and society. In general have so long been accustomed to look upon Miss Helen Taft, either as a little girl in the nursery or as one determined upon a college diploma that the thought of her in the role of a young woman in fashion is somewhat new to them. Yet Miss Taft demonstrated what she could do in that line last spring, when, at the last moment, she took Mrs. Taft's place as hostess at the dinner given in honor of a visiting Japanese prince. For the first time society saw Miss Taft as a charming young woman. The guests received a distinct surprise when they beheld the complete metamorphosis of the chubby little schoolgirl. Her first low-cut frock was becoming, her hair was elaborately coiffed, and she was golden opinions for the admirably poised manner in which she carried herself on an occasion which could not have failed to be somewhat trying for so young a hostess. The daughter of the White House will be one of the best equipped young women who have ever been presented to Washington society. She has

About Player Pianos

No instrument, in the world-old history of music, has leaped into such quick prominence as the Player Piano. And piano manufacturers have set themselves right willingly at the difficult task of rapid development.

From the first crude instruments of a few years ago to the, melting, soul-stirring tones of the MEL-VILLE CLARKE SOLO APOLLO is a far cry. Musicians the world over have taken it into their musical lives gladly, promptly.

The leaders of musical thought are charmed with the "Solo" feature, which stands unique and unparalleled in the art. This solo feature brings out the melody with a fidelity and truth which is really wonderful. There is none of the uncontrolled "noise" of the ordinary player—it is always a Melodious theme, with the SOLO APOLLO, thrown into higher relief by the accompaniment being kept in its proper, secondary, place.

If you are a musician, or if you just "love music" we want you to come in soon and hear the SOLO APOLLO. It will be a revelation to you if you have heard only the ordinary kinds of player pianos.

BALLINGER RAPS HIS TRADUCERS

SAVS AGITATION HAS PREVENTED
ED COAL LANDS SETTLEMENT.

Present Pending Cases and Get Action by Congress—National Conservation.

Washington, Nov. 7.—Blaming the agitation which has been raised throughout the country since the withdrawal of all Alaskan coal lands in 1906, as the cause of keeping the whole question unsettled and also for the inaction of congress, Secretary of the Interior Ballinger made public a long statement in the form of an interview, in the course of which he assails those who have charged him with being an opponent of conservation and blames them for the unsettled conditions in Alaska.

The statement was brought out by the recent indictments against Alaskan coal claimants, in which connection the secretary says that those "are but further steps in the effort which is being made by the government to clear up and settle the whole question."

Since the withdrawal order was made to enable congress to decide upon a definite policy of dealing with this resource the secretary says:

Proposes Two Remedies.
"There has been throughout the country much agitation regarding Alaskan coal, an agitation a large part of which is based on false statements. Whatever has been the motive behind the agitation, it has resulted in keeping the question unsettled, and is largely blameable for the inaction of congress."

The secretary points out that there are two essentials for clearing up the situation, as follows:
"First—an early prosecution and disposition of the pending cases, in view of charges of fraud and conspiracy against existing claimants."

"Second—Congressional action deciding the manner in which Alaskan coal may be acquired."

The Good Conservation.
As the Pacific coast is called to draw its goods from the Atlantic coast, the secretary says the charge has arisen that the "interests" are the beneficiaries of the policy which prevents the opening up of large fuel deposits.

"There has been much talk," Secretary Ballinger continues, "of the 'interests' opposing that so-called conservation which makes for reclamation rather than use, but, as a matter of fact, the 'interests' naturally favor rather than oppose the conservation and reclamation."

The secretary points out that Mexican coal can be delivered at San Francisco at 11 a ton, while a railroad in Alaska is compelled to pay $12 a ton.

Would Prevent Waste.

"To my mind, a continuation of the present situation is the direct antithesis of rational conservation," the secretary continued. "Consider that for each five tons of Atlantic seaboard coal transported to the Pacific coast one ton is used in transportation, or a total waste of 20 per cent., and you will see that existing methods do not conserve, but destroy."

"From an economic point of view, it is intolerable that this waste should continue and that a large region should be handicapped in its legitimate development and the proper use of its resources by the failure of the government properly to settle the problems of how to use these resources. It is sincerely to be hoped that congress will determine early in the coming session the manner in which Alaska coal may be taken out and placed in the markets of the Pacific coast before those markets are absorbed by foreign importations."

Cheap

"This is a false country, Bridget!" exclaimed North, who had but recently arrived in the United States. "Sure it's generous everybody is, I asked at the post office about sending money to my mother, and the young man told me I can get a money order for $19 for 10¢. Think of that now!"

"Do you work by energized initiative effort?"

"No, ma'am; I work by the day."—Baltimore American.

The body was shipped to Kuttawa at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon and from there will be taken to Dyersburg, Ky., where the funeral and burial will be held tomorrow.

The one-day-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Hall, 1614 Tennessee street died at 2 o'clock this morning. The funeral will be held at 1 o'clock this afternoon and burial will be at Mud Springs, Livingston county.

The one-day-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Evans Rudolph, of Sharpe, Ky., died yesterday morning about 4 o'clock. The burial took place Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock at Oakland cemetery.

The work of the Union Rescue Mission continues throughout the year with no vacation. During the year 1910 employment has been obtained for 120 women and girls through Mrs. Chiles' personal efforts. Nearly all of these were given a home at the mission while employment was being found. One young girl, who was ill when she came, was cared for an entire month before she became able to go to work. Besides these a little homeless sick babe was left there that required constant care night and day for six weeks, when it died. The first of last October Mr. Chiles was called away by the illness of a son living in Kansas. Since then the work has been carried on by Mrs. Chiles alone. In this time 20 lodgings and 30 meals have been furnished destitute men who were out of work. She has also received and distributed over 500 articles of clothing and four complete beds, besides a quantity of bedding. Notwithstanding the fact that every article given out was greatly needed, there are still urgent calls for help, but as every thing received has been given out a new base of supplies is seriously needed. Clothing, provisions and money are needed at once, while requests for furniture are frequent.

If all persons who can supply anything in these lines will notify Mrs. Chiles over the new phone, 1076, she will most gratefully appreciate it.

Mr. Leslie Owen returned from Cairo this morning after spending Sunday.

Home Treatment for Tuberculosis

Many people have cured themselves of tuberculosis by a very simple, inexpensive home method—fresh air, careful diet, and Eckman's Alternative.

This alternative is not a new medicine. It has been curing tuberculosis for several years, curing resulting after other methods had failed.

Think what this means. No specialist's fees, no sanatorium charges, no traveling expenses.

Eckman's Alternative has cured many people at home, where their dear ones encourage them and give them that tender care which money cannot buy.

After you have thoroughly investigated our alternative and testimonials—feeling sure in your own mind that it is Eckman's Alternative—must help you—start taking the Alternative. Your improvement should be gradual, but certain.

If you have been faithful to Eckman's Alternative, you will be amazed at your improvement. A statement from one who knows follows:

220 So. 4th St., Colwyn, (Darby) Pa. Gentlemen: "For four years I was troubled with cough, which gradually became worse. I had night sweats and pains in my chest. I was losing my appetite and had become so thin and weak I could not attend to my household duties. A physician pronounced my case consumption. Not being satisfied, I was examined by the physicians of the Poly-clinic Hospital; they also pronounced the disease consumption, which was proven later, by an examination of the sputum, as tuberculosis bacilli was found. I was ordered to a Consumptive Hospital. My relatives would not allow me to go until I had tried Eckman's Alternative. Before I had taken the medicine three weeks I had marked relief; my appetite increased, pain in the breast relieved; cough became less and easy; fever left me and I commenced getting well. My health became normal. I am in excellent health now and have been completely cured for ten years. I am truly, respectfully,
(MRS.) MARY WASSON.

Eckman's Alternative cures Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Throat and Lung Affections, and all kinds of colds and coughs. It is the Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for additional testimonials, and a full description of the Alternative, write to J. C. Eckman, Druggist and Lat Drug Co., in Paducah.

POLITICS IN THE BASEBALL WORLD

FOGEL AND HERRMANN ARE STIRRING UP ROW.

Factions Likely to Battle in Connection With Scumble About the Recent Trappings.

THE OLD FUSS IN NATIONAL

Chicago, Nov. 7.—"Wani, signs is signs," according to Fery, the old guide who used to work for Comiskey and his celebrated hunting parties in the Wisconsin woods. If we are to believe in Fery there is a merry little ten party coming off in the National league this season. In fact, winter politics have started before the first fall of snow and the war is on in earnest.

The old divisions which rent the National league last year are seen again in the battle between Garry Herrmann, of Cincinnati, and Fogel, of Philadelphia, regarding the exchange of some players. While they may patch up their differences satisfactorily to all outside purposes, the feeling still is there—and will continue, in all probability, during the mid-winter meeting of the league.

If these National league leaders don't come to their senses pretty soon it'll be another case of killing the golden goose. When once trouble starts in the ranks it is bound to have its effects elsewhere. If there is one thing that the public will not stand for it is constant bickering and petty strife, as has marked the National league affairs for some years past. Apparently some of the magnates have echoed that famous remark of Vanderbilt when he exclaimed, "The public be a—d."

According to many experts, the Cubs lost the world pennant as a direct result of National league strenuous politics. It will be remembered that C. Webb Murphy, of the Cubs, fought tooth and nail for a 168-game schedule, and only took a 154-game list with the understanding that the season would end October 15. Well, that was pie for the Athletics, for they were able to get in prime shape, while the Cubs were dubbing along with the Cardinals and not getting any kind of a training for the real crisis, which came with such a dull thud.

While on this point it might be observed that Fogel, of the Phillies, was with Murphy in this fight and Herrmann on the other side. Evidently the same old division still exists. If so, doesn't it make you shudder to think what is going to happen before the spring training trip rolls along some half a year in the future?

Murphy's Anties Amuse. Right here let us take up an interesting point. Will Murphy want a 168-game schedule at this winter's meeting? Will he want the season to extend to October 15 or end at the natural time around the first of the month? There is an element of comedy in the situation. If Murphy seeks the shorter season there will be a lot of fun, because fans will think he has swallowed a bitter pill, according to some of the critics.

The situation in Ban Johnson's league is one of continued quiet and order—just like a refreshing draft of aprag water, all the time. The managers are in harmony most of the time, or when there are any differences of opinion there isn't a loud hullabaloo about it. Signs point toward the same situation this winter for which let us express our heartfelt gratitude.

Democratic lead hinges on what effect the indifference of Barnes, Woodruff and the other old line Republican leaders will have in the "up-state" districts, and what effect the condemnation of Dix, the Democratic nominee for governor, by John C. Mitchell, the labor leader, will have in the industrial centers and New York City.

In Tennessee the election of Hooper is generally conceded. Taylor has not brought back into line the rural vote. It is believed he was induced to make the race, because he saw his chances for reelection to the senate going. Verree, the fusion leader, is understood to have the support of the Republicans for Taylor's place in the senate; so that Bob is making no personal sacrifice in staking everything on this race.

In Nebraska, Bryan's opposition to Dahlman, the Democratic nominee for governor, is said to make that state doubtful. In Indiana the race between Beveridge and Kern for the senate is in doubt; and in Ohio Harmon has a big lead for governor.

Abbott's Forecast. Willis J. Abbott, writing from Chicago, sizes up the western states as follows:

Wisconsin. The Wisconsin legislature would be Republican and for La Follette on the surface; that the one Democratic district now held by Charles H. Welles would remain Democratic; that one Milwaukee district now held by William H. Stafford would be carried this year by Victor Berger, Socialist; and that the Fourth district, now represented by W. J. Cary, is doubtful. Barring a landslide, I see little chance in Wisconsin for a Democratic gain other than that which comes from the substitution of a Socialist for a Republican.

In referring to the Republican legislature being on the surface for La Follette, I mean precisely what I say. If the senate should be taken from him it will be, and it is well worth the while of the hundreds of thousands who believe him to be the pioneer in progressive politics to keep an eye on, and an interest in, the Wisconsin situation.

Minnesota. The Minnesota situation resolves itself practically into a fight for the congressional delegation. There might have been a fair fight made for the governorship and control of the state, but the Democratic nominee former Governor John Lind, held in abeyance so long his determination concerning the nomination, wading up by defusing it, that the heart was necessarily taken out of the campaign. Mr. James Gray, former mayor of Minneapolis, who donned the toga thus belatedly tossed aside, deserves from the Democratic party gratitude and commiseration. Minnesota impresses me like one or two other trans-Mississippi states, as having been from the Democratic point of view thrown away. But nationally its congressional delegation is most important. It has today eight Republicans and one Democrat. The one Democrat is safe, and the district formerly represented by James A. Tawney, who was defeated for re-nomination, is very much in doubt for the Republican party.

Nebraska. The state once held in the hollow of his hand by Mr. Bryan, is now, by his own hand, made doubtful, and PIMPY? WELL, DON'T BE.

People Notice It, Drive Them Off With Olive Tablets.

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edward's Olive Tablets. The pimples will vanish after you have taken the tablets a few nights. Nothing ever cleansed the blood, the bowels, the liver like Olive Tablets.

Olive Tablets are the only successful substitute for calomel; there's never any sickness or pain after taking them.

Olive Tablets do all that calomel does and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with "a dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face."

The olive oil in Olive Tablets is itself a natural laxative and has a healing, soothing, strengthening effect on the irritated organs.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints, and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Try them. Take one nightly for a week. Then look at yourself in the glass and see how you feel.

At all drug stores in neat pocket packages. 15 tablets for 10c; 45 tablets for 25c.

Mixed Forecast of Election

If the senate should be taken from him it will be, and it is well worth the while of the hundreds of thousands who believe him to be the pioneer in progressive politics to keep an eye on, and an interest in, the Wisconsin situation.

Minnesota. The Minnesota situation resolves itself practically into a fight for the congressional delegation. There might have been a fair fight made for the governorship and control of the state, but the Democratic nominee former Governor John Lind, held in abeyance so long his determination concerning the nomination, wading up by defusing it, that the heart was necessarily taken out of the campaign. Mr. James Gray, former mayor of Minneapolis, who donned the toga thus belatedly tossed aside, deserves from the Democratic party gratitude and commiseration. Minnesota impresses me like one or two other trans-Mississippi states, as having been from the Democratic point of view thrown away. But nationally its congressional delegation is most important. It has today eight Republicans and one Democrat. The one Democrat is safe, and the district formerly represented by James A. Tawney, who was defeated for re-nomination, is very much in doubt for the Republican party.

Nebraska. The state once held in the hollow of his hand by Mr. Bryan, is now, by his own hand, made doubtful, and there are those who believe that it has been turned over to the Republicans. Five months ago no Democrat was worrying over Nebraska; nor any Republican hoping for any results in the state. The governorship and the senate were conceded to the Democratic party. The prohibition question was dead, but Mr. Bryan, returning from South America, galvanized it into life. He fought for it in the convention, and being beaten, bolted the nomination of Mayor Dahlman, his life-long supporter, and secured, or permitted, the candidacy of Richard L. Metcalfe, the associate editor of the Companion, against that of Gilbert M. Hitchcock, another life-long friend, for the senate. This has naturally disgraced and disintegrated the Democratic party in Nebraska and correspondingly cheered the Republicans.

The latter I found not particularly enthusiastic over the personality of their candidate for governor, but confident of his election because of the Bryan defection. I am inclined to think them right, though from the information I gathered in Nebraska I think the possibility of Hitchcock carrying the state for senator exceedingly great. As for the congressional delegation the Republicans now hold three, the Democrats three. There is no likelihood under existing political conditions of any change in this representation, unless by chance the Fifth district, now represented by George W. Norris, whose liguency is much doubted by his neighbors, may be lost to the G. O. P.

Kansas. Just now the Sunflower state has a solid Republican delegation and probably will hold it.

Republicans are not wont to worry about Iowa—even Maine has given them more trouble in the past—but this year after thirty-six years of a broken Republican ascendancy it is the Pine Tree state has elected a Democratic governor. Iowa, which has only once gone Democratic since that was a Republican party, is decidedly wobbly today. Never having had any spolia to quarrel about in Iowa, the Democrats are hungrily harmonious. Out of this situation it will not be surprising if that party gathers in three, and at least two congressional seats.

Missouri. The state of "show me" showed in the last congress ten Democrats and six Republicans. They agree there now, Republicans and Democrats alike, that this year it will need to Washington fifteen Democrats and one Republican, the Hon. Richard Barthold, of St. Louis.

One of the great states of the Union, the third in population, may be dismissed with but few words. No governor is to be elected, no senatorship is in question. Out of twenty-four congressmen the Republicans now have nineteen. Of these several are now in doubt, and curiously enough the doubtful seats are those held by men who in Washington are esteemed wrong. Rodenburg, of East St. Louis, Madden, of Chicago, Graft, of Peoria, Moxley, the creation of Senator Lorimer, and even "Alec" Cannon himself are all facing fierce fights. The district long held by Henry S. Boutelle is, because of his defeat at the primaries, likely to go over to the Democratic enemy.

Michigan. The newspapers have been somewhat misled about the Michigan situation. The defeat of Senator Harrow for renomination was not essentially an insurgent triumph. Indeed, little insurgent sentiment exists in the Wolverine state. Such congressmen as may be elected on the Republican ticket—and that means almost the whole delegation—will be standpats from top to bottom, whatever their pretenses in this campaign may be. The best information I was able to gather in Michigan was that the Detroit district, now represented by Edwin Denby, was practically sure to send a Democrat to congress, and that the Sixth district, now represented by Samuel W. Smith (Republican), is doubtful. Indeed, Michigan is as thoroughly wedded to its Republican idols as Pennsylvania or Vermont.

The Two Prime States. Indiana and Ohio! In these states, of all the middle west, the political fires have burned fiercest and with most reason. Indiana has the young Democrates of Republicanism, Albert J. Beveridge, to deal with; Ohio has a Nestor of Democracy, Gov. Judson Harmon, seeking a reelection with higher political honors in the near future if it shall be won. Indiana has today eleven Democrats and two Republican congressmen. The Republicans will have to fight hard to keep their two, for the steel district at Gary, long held by E. D. Crumpacker for that party, shows signs of revolt. Republicans, as the phrase goes, were ever ungrateful. It would seem that the Republican party, if not ungrateful itself, is likely to suffer from the ingratitude of the great steel interests in the state.

Crumpacker district, which he and that party have served long and well. Among the Democratic districts the only one in serious doubt is that now held by Henry A. Barnhart, who in the last election had but 270 votes to the good. Yet Democratic authorities claim he is entirely safe this year.

Beveridge Pilot Man. However, in Indiana the real matter of national interest is the fight of Beveridge for his return to the United States senate. This is likely to be one of the closest contests in the whole country. Mr. Beveridge is a man with a multitude of friends and perhaps more enemies. He is opposed by John W. Kern who has no enemies, who is universally liked, but who lacks somewhat the fighting disposition of his brilliant young adversary. All the same, Kern is giving Beveridge a fight which worries the latter exceedingly. If Beveridge is the more oratorical on the stump, Kern is the keener and the more logical. When a press agent betrayed Beveridge into a panegyric on "Mary and the vine-covered cottage," Kern seized upon the phrase, told what was taxed upon that happy little home and sang the praises of the somewhat sentimental metaphor until the unhappy Beveridge looks on a vine-covered cottage with the aversion with which he would regard a ticket to political oblivion. The fight between the two men is a close and a square one. It affords the nearest approach we have this year to an election of senators by direct vote of the people. To sum it up I should say that Beveridge has more strength in the nation outside of Indiana, while Kern has the greater strength where it is needed—at home.

Harmon the Ohio Issue. In Ohio the one fight is for and against Harmon. Elected two years ago by 19,000, it is my sincere conviction that he will be re-elected this year by double that plurality. Had I written this three weeks ago I would have put his plurality at 60,000 to 60,000, but the Republicans, with the magnificent quality of rallying on their five-yard line they always show, have made a gallant and uphill fight and given the governor and his friends just cause for worry. In earlier letters I have covered the hearing of the Ohio election on presidential politics and there is no necessity now to say more than that, if elected, Harmon will be the foremost candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination. If so nominated will the Republicans put up against him Taft, who, with all the power of the presidency, was unable to beat him for governor? Or will they look further east for a more spectacular candidate and help the Democracy to become conservative by themselves picking out the foremost living radical?

Ohio Democrats Sanguine. As for the congressional delegation from Ohio, I expect to see the Democrats win three new districts and hold all their old ones. As to the senate, the only thing certain is that if the Republicans carry the legislature Senator Dick will not be re-elected.

In closing this necessarily brief review of more than six weeks' travel through ten states I would say that while the Democrats will gain a congressional seat here and there west of Ohio, it is to the east they must look for the heavy gains that will give them the 21 new seats necessary to control congress. Missouri only of the western states will show Democratic gains. On the other hand had not the Republicans, even belatedly harkened to the voices of those insurgents who cried last winter in the congressional wilderness the Republican minority in the Sixty-second congress would have been so small that even the deliberate Champ Clark could have counted it at a glance.

A Bedtime Answer. A clergyman once wrote to Bishop Stubbs a long letter, asking his lordship's opinion as to whether it was requisite to have a faculty in order to place some curtains behind the altar of his church as a record. The Bishop replied, giving his reasons for his opinions. But these did not satisfy the clergyman, who must needs write another long letter in regard to the record. He received a prompt and curt reply: Dear —, Hang your curtains! Yours truly,—Tit-Bits.

CLERKS UNION

HOLDING A CONFERENCE AT NEW ORLEANS.

Den Harper, of the Local Illinois Central Shops, is Attending.

A conference between a committee composed of the Railway Clerks' union and the Illinois Central officials is being held at New Orleans this week. Den Harper, chairman of the shop committee of the local union, No. 181, left Saturday night for New Orleans to attend the conference, which will continue indefinitely. The conference is held in the interest of all the clerks on the southern lines of the Illinois Central system.

A. E. Cliff, superintendent of southern lines, in private car, No. 19, arrived in Paducah last night. He left this morning for Wickliffe.

AN UP-TO-DATE DRUGGIST

It is surprising how many old-fashioned remedies are being used, which goes to show that it is hard to improve some of our grandmothers' old, traditional remedies. For instance, for keeping the hair dark, soft and glossy, nothing equaling our grandmothers' "age tea" has ever been discovered. Although, by the addition of sulphur and other ingredients, this old-fashioned brew has been made more effective as a scalp tonic and color restorer. Nowadays when our hair comes out or falls out or gray, instead of going to the garden or forest for herbs and making the "tea" ourselves, we simply go to the nearest drug store and ask for a bottle of Weyb's Sage and Sulphur. This preparation is sold by all leading druggists for 50 cents and $1 a bottle, or is sent direct by the Weyb Chemical Company, 71 Carlisle St., New York City, upon receipt of order.

If the Floor is Warm the Whole Room is Warm

The fire in the Wilson Heater is so perfectly under control that with very little attention to the dampers, your rooms can be kept in a constant, healthful temperature.

The celebrated Down-Draft creates perfect combustion in the Heater so that the whole heater gives out heat instead of just the top portion, as is the case with other heaters. You know, of course, that hot air rises so that when the Wilson heats the floor as well as the upper air of the room the whole room remains at a steady even temperature.

In the history of fire insurance in America, a large majority of the fire insurance companies organized have failed or retired from business. LITTLE CHANGE IN CONDITIONS

CONFIDENCE STIMULATED BY FARM SITUATION.

Money Situation Is Not Yet Entirely Cleared Up It Seems.

SUMMARY BY HENRY CLEWS.

New York, Nov. 7. (Special.)—As a rule the closing of a political campaign has a favorable influence upon values, because uncertainty is removed, and final results are often partially discounted in advance. This probably explains the present strength of the market. The campaign was accompanied by a good deal of acrimony, much of which should disappear after election day. The country is tired of agitation and is entitled to a period of rest at least until the reassembling of congress a month hence.

Speculative opinion on the stock exchange has been somewhat divided. Prices reacted from the sharp October rise, which was due to very powerful leadership; and now there is a disposition to carefully weigh the influences which are swaying prices in an upward direction. Much of the popular dislike of corporations and railroads which existed in the first half of 1919 is disappearing, and the conviction is growing that attacks upon property rights will not succeed and that indiscriminate raids upon corporations are productive of more harm than good. It is observed also that corporation managers are more conciliatory in their attitude, and are showing a strong regard for public welfare, as well as a more general disposition to obey the law. Such a policy as this if sustained will do much towards disarming public criticism. There is no longer the fear that once existed of a radical decision by the supreme court on the oil and tobacco cases. It will be remembered that an adverse decision in the famous Northern Securities case did not have an injurious effect upon the market; and there is no reason for anticipating any calamity as a result of the supreme court decisions when they arrive. The position of the railroads in regard to transportation rates is also more satisfactory. In the first place, many of the railroads are showing large gains in gross earnings, notwithstanding the talk of business depression, and could expenses only be brought within reasonable limits, there should be no fear as to net results. Even in the latter respect the railroads are maintaining their position better than anticipated, and there is no immediate prospect of any reduction in dividends. The railroads, however, are much in need of new capital, and this they are unable to procure under present financial conditions. In view of necessary large expenditures by the railroads it is not improbable that the interstate commerce commission may allow some advances in rates, which would enable them to finance urgent requirements and to maintain fair dividends. The situation of the railroads as regards investment conditions is well illustrated by the fact that in October the total security issues reported was only $56,000,000, the smallest in any month since September, 1906, and $50,000,000 less than in the same month a year ago. Since January 1 the total security issues reported have been $1,299,000,000, against $1,323,000,000 a year ago. Of this amount railroads have issued $785,000,000, as against $721,000,000 a year ago; an increase of $64,000,000. It is worthy of notice, however, that this increase was entirely due to a large issue of notes, which for the nine months amounted to nearly $195,000,000, as against $50,000,000 for the nine months of 1909. In bonds and stocks combined there was a decrease for the year of $83,000,000, while the issue of notes increased more than $144,000,000. This illustrates very clearly the difficulties in the money and investment markets.

Money.
The monetary situation is not yet entirely clear. The crisis so confidently predicted in the early part of the year, especially by London, has not materialized; nevertheless, the immediate course is not without its pitfalls. An unwelcome feature is the continued excess of loans over deposits, indicating that the banks are lending upon their capital and surplus. This weakness may disappear in due time, but it is a condition which requires watching, being a symptom of overexpansion of credit. Western bankers are less confident of escaping a money squeeze than three or four weeks ago, and it is quite possible that they may be obliged to call upon New York more freely for their balances. Still rates for money may be expected for the balance of the year. The government has also been withdrawing funds quite freely, the result being that we may expect a continuance of low bank reserves at least until funds begin to return from the interior. The only real cure is a further reduction in loans; and the higher rates for money recently prevailing suggests a tendency in that direction.

There is, however, no reason for serious concern regarding the money market, the probability being that moderate liquidation and a steady contraction of loans for a few weeks would probably rectify the situation. Conditions abroad are not unfavorable to this center and there has been considerable placing of American finance bills abroad by borrowers of the highest standing. For some time past there has been a growing tendency among the banks to loan upon non-liquid collateral, and this is a practice that should be promptly discouraged.

Confidence.

In the general business situation there is little change. Confidence has received considerable stimulus from the fact that the farmers are having another good year, but in nearly all departments of industry there is a spirit of hesitation which still keeps the volume of business below a year ago. The question of cost continues to be the great problem in all lines of business, not only among consumers, but equally with producers and distributors. Many staple articles of commerce have shown a declining tendency which is hopeful, and suggests that the country is on the way to readjustment. Declining prices do not usually stimulate business until it is felt a settled level has been reached. As soon as this is realized we may look for more activity in trade. There is already a better feeling in the iron trade as a result of the readjustment accomplished there. Cotton goods also have been moving more freely for similar reasons. Commodities prices are showing a declining tendency which should be encouraged, as that is the surest way of restoring equilibrium and reducing the cost of living, which is the basis of much present unrest and depression. Our foreign trade is showing better conditions as a result of lower prices for staple commodities. Curative processes are steadily at work, and if nothing occurs to cause a fresh impairment of confidence some improvement in business conditions should develop at no very distant date.

The technical position of the stock market is strong. Securities are concentrated in strong hands, and unfavorable conditions appear to have been fully discounted. In some respects the situation is favorable to bullish manipulation, and while the general outlook is not in all respects as satisfactory as could be desired, it would cause no surprise if the efforts on the part of the big interests for a further advance were continued now that political agitation for the present election has run its course. Nevertheless, the market situation is one that requires caution in speculative transactions. It remains to be seen what the attitude of other powerful interests will be to those now leading the market.

Hold-Up of a Party of Them Yields Bandits Small Amount.

El Paso, Texas, Nov. 7.—Entering the private car of Walter Douglas, general manager of the Phelps-Dodge interests in the southwest, two bandits held up a party of eastern directors and officials of the Calumet and Arizona mine at Lordsburg, N. M., last night, getting $11.20 out of the crowd, which contained several millionaires. The twenty cents was obtained from the negro porters. The victims in the wild west hold-up scene, which was staged on a riding were: C. D. Autronmont, James Briggs, Captain James Houston and J. C. Greenway, general manager of the Calumet and Arizona mine, all of New York.

Nearly Sold.

A well-known German, who is something of a wag, walked into one of the public offices in Cincinnati the other day and from the noise it was plain that he was wearing a pair of new shoes, or ones that had recently been repaired. One of the clerks remarked about the shoes, and the German said: "It comes pretty near selling these shoes the other day." "How is that?" asked the clerk. "I had 'em half sold," said the German, as he walked out of the office. A deep groan was heard as he slipped through the door.—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune. WEAK DEFENSE OF PADUCAH SHOWN

ABLE TO WORK OFFENSIVELY
BUT HELD DOWN.

The Madisonville Boys Race Well
When Their Goal Is in Danger.

HOPKINSVILLE TEAM BEATEN

It was almost like a funeral party when the Paducah high school football team returned last night from Madisonville, with the little end of the score 23 to 6. It was nearly a shutout, and only by desperate playing in the last ditch did the blue and white warriors succeed in crossing the Madisonville goal line. As a result Madisonville forged ahead in the race for the high school championship of western Kentucky, and unless the strong Hopkinsville team can head 'em off, the honors will fall to the Hopkins county lads.

Using only wide end runs and off tackle plays the Madisonville team won the game from Paducah after a game fight. Paducah played in hard luck, and several times carried the ball on forward passes right under the Madisonville goal posts, but failed to gain through the line at the critical periods. Little Neil Spillman was the bright star for Madisonville. Scott, the gritty full back, was also a star. Spillman's work in directing the team, his sure tackling and speedy running were all factors in the Madisonville victory, while Scott plowed through the line. For Paducah Captain Ward Browning put up a good game and Reeves Elliott in tackle was an aggressive player. Pittman Harth's long run was the cause of Paducah's only score.

Played Well.
Paducah played a good offensive game, but the warriors demonstrated that they are weak in defensive work. They proved unable to check the long end runs or the dashes off tackle. Madisonville kicked off to Paducah, and the game started off with a rush. The ball was carried to the fifteen yard line of the enemy, but here Madisonville braced and the quarter ended scoreless. In the second quarter, Spillman got away for a long run, and the ball was bucked over the goal. The half ended 6 to 0 in favor of Madisonville.

At the kick-off of the second half little Spillman got the oval and run almost the length of the broken field for a touchdown. In the final quarter Madisonville made two more touchdowns and kicked a goal. In the last few minutes of play Pittman Harth intercepted one of the few Madisonville forward passes and made a long run, being tackled when within six inches of goal. Ward Browning carried the ball over on a lineback.

Paducah used about 25 forward passes and fumbled only one, while Madisonville was afraid of the new style of play. No second game is scheduled between Madisonville and Hopkinsville, but it will be played probably. In case Hopkinsville should win a second game and Paducah defeat Hopkinsville here Thanksgiving day, the football championship would be a triangular tie again.

Hopkinsville Defeated.
Hopkinsville went down in defeat before the Winthrop school of Nashville by a score of 10 to 0, but the defeat does not affect the championship race of western Kentucky except to show that Hopkinsville has a strong team. The Winthrop school is reputed to have the strongest prep team in Nashville. Winthrop was the heavier team. Charles Mencham, the crack Hopkinsville player, sprained his ankle and will be out of the game for several weeks.

With a good trip of freight and passengers the John L. Lowry arrived from Evansville at 3 o'clock this morning. She left for a return trip about 9 o'clock.

Gauge at 7 a. m. read about 2.5 feet, indicating a fall of three-tenths of a foot since Saturday. Weather clear and warmer.

The Evansville packet tomorrow will be the Bob Dudley.
The Clyde is due tonight or tomorrow from Waterloo, Ala., and will make a return trip Wednesday evening.

After a slow drag in the Paducah and Calro trade the J. T. Reeder finally returned Saturday night before midnight after being gone since Friday morning. Repairs were made today and she was late in departing. Her schedule will be to leave Paducah at 8 a. m. every other morning. She will leave Calro at 8 a. m. on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

William E. Ross, steward on the Reeder, is preparing some good edibles for the crew and passengers. The Ohio arrived from Golconda before noon today and will be loaded out on the marine ways for repairs.

The George Cowling made her two regular trips between Paducah and Metropolis today on time.

From Cincinnati the lighthouse tender Goldenrod, which arrived Saturday, is lying here awaiting the arrival of Colonel Oakes from Cincinnati. She will proceed up the Tennessee river and on her return will go to Calro and thence back to Cincinnati.

The river is getting thin here and the sandbar abreast the wharftop resembles an island. For the first time the bar was used as a playground yesterday by boys who pulled over in a skiff.

President John L. Vance, of the Ohio Valley Improvement association is in Pittsburgh advertising in general action to secure better wharfage and improved terminals for southgoing steamers.

It is rumored that Pittsburgh bucksters are trying to organize a company to buy the KeyStone State, now at Pt. Pleasant, and run her again between Pittsburgh and Cincinnati.

The Stoker Lee, which went aground two weeks ago at Slough's Landing, Tenn., is still stranded and may be a total loss. She is said to be badly listed and is going to pieces. If a rise comes it will be difficult to float her, it is said.

Three deputy surveyors of the Customs department made a tour among the motor boats at Alton, Ill. Twenty boats were found not to be properly equipped and the owners were threatened with fines.

The U. S. lighthouse tender Goldenrod, which arrived Saturday afternoon from the upper Ohio, left today for Calro. On her return here she will go up the Tennessee river to tend lights.

En route to Evansville with a large cargo of miscellaneous freight the steamer Nashville went aground at French Island below Enterprise last Thursday afternoon. Her passengers and freight were transferred to the Lucile Nowling and after the Nashville was pulled off she proceeded to Evansville.

Paducah coal dealers are experiencing the effect of the car shortage, which seems to be general this year. Nearly every year there is difficulty of securing enough cars to move the coal, but this year it seems a little worse than usual. However, the city is not suffering, but the coal dealers find it hard work to fill the multitude of orders with coal arriving only in small quantities.

The railroads have for several years depended upon the coal cars of the southwestern railroads, and under ordinary circumstances they would have plenty of cars. However, during the strike of the miners in the central west, the cars were returned to the owners, and now the supply of foreign cars is in other parts of the country. Many dealers have large orders which they have filled only partially, because of their inability to secure coal, and have scattered their supply as far as possible to relieve any suffering. Both the railroads and coal dealers are optimistic, and expect a change in conditions before the severe cold weather.

THE BIBLE

ITS UNIVERSALITY AND IDEAL TRUTHS.

Principals Are Dealt With and Not Specific Incidents—Church News.

The Bible never before was subjected to more analytical criticism than it is today, said Dr. D. C. Wright at Grace Church yesterday. The question is asked: If it is the word of God, is it the words of God? If you believe it is inspired, what do you mean by inspiration?

He discussed the widespread power of the Bible; its influence on the intervening centuries since the death of Christ, its effect on nations, their language, civilization and social life, the attributed its potency to two principal factors: its universality of application, and the fact that all its thoughts converge on Christ. The essential fact in Christ's life, was not the bloody sacrifice upon calvary's hill to appease the wrath of an angry God; but his doing perfectly the will of God. In this light the crucifixion becomes an incident in the doing of that will, and Christ stands for the perfect type, the ideal toward which every noble thought and truth and ideal in the old and new testaments points.
